

<オールインワン英文読解⑩> 演習問題

① 次の英文を和訳しよう。[5点×10: 50点]

100

(1) It was because she was sick that she missed the class.
[ ]。

(2) It was Tom who broke the window.
[ ]。

(3) It was at that moment that I realized the truth.
[ ]。

(4) It is of great value that he always tells the truth.
[ ]。

(5) It is clear that he misunderstood your message.
[ ]。

(6) It is a mystery that no one saw what happened.
[ ]。

(7) It is not what you read but how you read it that counts.
[ ]。

(8) It was not his remarks which we found very unpleasant.
[ ]。

(9) It was not until he was thirty that he started to paint.
[ ]。

(10) It is his kindness that moved us all.
[ ]。

[2] 次の対話において、ふつう、下線部のうちの語を最も強く発音すればよいか? [6点×6:36点] (センター試験)

(1) A: Helen, I heard you are writing a new book.

B: Well, actually, I'm only thinking of writing one.

[ ]

(2) A: My sister told me John's going to visit either the States or Canada.

B: As a matter of fact, he's going to the States and Canada.

[ ]

(3) A: Shoko always has her coffee with her meal, I think.

B: Really? I prefer to have my coffee after the meal.

[ ]

(4) A: What a charming dress! It makes her look really young.

B: But she is young. She's still in her twenties.

[ ]

(5) A: Tom's going to be late.

B: Why? Did he miss his flight?

A: No, it seems that they had engine trouble

[ ]

(6) A: My sister came back from abroad last week.

B: Where was she?

A: She was in New York in July and Los Angeles in August.

B: Oh, really? My sister also went to the States this summer.

[ ]

[3] 次の下線部の意味に最も近いものを<>から選ぼう。[14点]

Hardly anything in this field is free of controversy.

At issue is the degree to which humans are different from other creatures. (西南学院大)

<Being born/Being debated/Being disagreeable/Being published>